Amsterdam

Right now business coaching is a big business in itself, and with good reason. With the current uncertain economic climate meaning stakes are higher than ever, business owners are understandably searching for strategies that can help them navigate a way forward and learning from those who have achieved success is a logical step.That's the thinking behind this year's Ultimate Wealth Congress on 20th June at the Park Plaza Amsterdam Airport, put together by the irrepressible Pa Joof, inspirational speaker, self-described serial entrepreneur and the face behind a multi-million pound empire.

Pa has assembled some of the best business brains in Europe for what promises to be the stand-out business mentoring event of the year. They include the firebrand business columnist Jort Kelder, trendsetting lingerie giant Marlies Dekkers and respected economics expert Mathijs Bouman and the ever-popular Dutch entrepreneur and actress Lisa Portengen. These in addition to Pa Joof himself and a whole host of experts from all over the world who have all achieved incredible success in their chosen field.

With VIP tickets for Velocity readers just €97, it's a small investment for what could be the crucial difference in how your business fares in the coming years. www.ultimatewealthcongress.com/velocity or call +31 (0) 107670496.

CityJet offers up to two flights a day to Cambridge and eight return flights every day from Amsterdam to London City, plus seasonal flights to Avignon, Brive and Perpignan